

TRAINING: TEACHING AND LEARNING AT MNU

CETE has designed and started conducting a training on teaching and learning at MNU. The training is delivered in collaboration with the Policy and Quality Control Unit and Training Development Unit with the major purpose of familiarizing the academic staff with the newly formulated teaching and learning policy and to ensure quality teaching and learning at MNU. The training will be delivered as an online program through Moodle with a workload of 30 learning hours. The program includes a combination of synchronous guided discussions which will be facilitated by the facilitator, self-paced readings together with learning tasks and assessments. Major areas covered through the program include; Student Learning and Engagement, Theories and Approaches to Teaching, Designing Teaching and Learning, Assessment Types and Strategies, Teaching and Learning with Technology which are built upon the principles of quality teaching that are addressed in the Teaching and Learning Policy. The first batch started the program on April 2, 2023 with 33 participants. All the activities related to the program including designing, developing, facilitating, monitoring and evaluation are managed by our Lead Instructional Designer, Ms. Aminath Zifna.

TRAINING: TEACHING AND LEARNING AT MNU

This is a highly recommended training for all academic staff at MNU in order to align their teaching practices with the current Teaching and Learning Policy of MNU.

The training is designed to explore the basic aspects of teaching and learning in higher education. The 30 hours of the training will include 5 hours of synchronous learning where the participants gets the opportunity to reflect and discuss the various aspects of teaching and learning in higher education with other colleagues and develop a sense of community of practice. In the remaining 25 hours of asynchronous learning participants will be reading selected texts and articles. Participants will get to check their understanding by completing assigned follow up tasks and activities. Each unit will conclude with a summative assessment, and a virtual badge will be awarded to participants who complete the assessment within the deadline.
